

DEMBE 2024

Join us for the next DGKK+DEMBE, a successful continuation of the joint epitaxy workshop series at the Heinrich Hertz Institute in Lanolinfabrik, Berlin, Germany.

The conference from December 11-13, 2024 provides an excellent platform for scientific exchange and offers full visibility to the companies related to its research field.

Researchers and companies from Germany and abroad are highly encouraged and offered the opportunity to engage in scientific exchange and networking to fuel the further development of this particular field of science.

What our sponsors will gain through supporting the event is:

- access to our international networking hub and the chance to connect with field experts during the conference
- staying informed about the latest research results
- receiving updates on the newest developments and device advancements in the field
- enhancement of your company's visibility by introducing your profile and activities to the DGKK+DEMBE audience
- establishing new and strengthen existing realtions, collaborations.

Take advantage of the conference timing to experience Berlin just before the winter holidays.

During the three days of DKGG+DEMBE, not only will your company be given increased visibility, you'll also have ample opportunity to explore the city's scenic Christmas markets and immerse yourself in Berlin's unique vibe.

The venue at Lanolinfabrik offers a perfect balance by being situated slightly away from the busy city center while remaining easily accessible through efficient public transportation.
